Description

Endless Opportunities! This building has been a gift shop with living quarters in the back. It has at least two bedrooms and a bath and a half, there are interesting built-ins one of which could be a children's playhouse plus shelving. This could become an office, a store of various kinds, or you could expand the living quarters and make it an air b&b or go completely residential. Cute privacy fenced back yard with another couple of little houses on the property. There are too many directions you could take this investment property to mention them all. You could make it into whatever you choose.
